Thank you for your recent correspondence regarding REACH regulations.

I can confirm that the products Bulwell Precision Engineers Ltd. supply to you are termed "Articles" – (with no intended substance release under normal operating circumstances) and are therefore exempt from registration under REACH guidelines.

We would like to take this opportunity to also assure you that Bulwell are aware of this regulation and its associated implications and are fully committed to meeting our legal obligations under it.

We continue to work with our suppliers to ensure our supply chain are compliant within their own business and their respective supply chains.

Further information can be found within our Standard terms and conditions for the purchase of goods and/or services – Issue 10 (08/04/2016), this document can be found in the download section on the company website.

Should you have any questions regarding Bulwell's approach to REACH, please feel free to contact me to discuss further.

Kind regards

Neil Allen
